Description

Dinbeat is a startup company which develops innovative products for pets, which involves the use of technology. Its first big development is called DinbeatPRO, the first multi-parameter harness to track pet's health professionally, mainly for veterinary use. This wearable device monitors wirelessly and in real time: electrocardiogram data, breath per minute, heart rate, temperature, activity, position and bark. With DinbeatPRO vets, not only can save up to 60% in health tracking costs, but also they can improve their services and the life quality of ill pets.
